COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Manager Hancock of Stafford Office of Willimantic & Rockville Lighting Company.

It became known to-night that John E. Hancock, manager of the Stafford office of the Rockville & Willimantic Lighting company, who died Saturday and whose funeral was held Wednesday, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. On Saturday Hancock, who has been in ill health for the past six months, drew from the company all money due him and told an official of the company that he was turning home to his family. On returning home he stayed in the house a short time and when he left said he would return shortly. After an absence of several hours Mrs. Hancock became alarmed and in company with a 12-year-old daughter started a search for him, the latter finding her father dead in the loft of a barn with a bottle which had contained carbolic acid lying beside him. The facts of the suicide were suppressed and did not become public until Wednesday. Hancock was about 45 years old and leaves his wife, two daughters and a son.

Liquor Caused Gallivan Trouble and Expense.

Patrick Gallivan was charged with assault upon Michael E. Deney and admitted the fact in court Wednesday morning. He and Deney had some words and he had invited Deney to go down on the railroad property and have it out, but Deney refused to comply with his request and he had hit into him on the street. Deney was in court and exhibited evidence of the encounter in the form of a bandaged head and a cut lip. Both admitted that they had been drinking. Judge Wm. A. Arnold imposed a fine of $5 and costs, amounting to $10.00, which Gallivan paid. It was the first time that he had ever been arrested.

Judgment Suspended.

Angelo Noto, charged with breach of the peace and assault, was arraigned in the same court. After the circumstances surrounding his arrest were read with the aid of testimony submitted with the full knowledge that Noto was apparently unacquainted with the laws and customs of this country and that he had been unnecessarily alarmed at fancied ill treatment of his sick wife, who is an inmate at the Town Farm, where she and a couple of fainting spells Tuesday Judge Arnold suspended judgment and permitted the prisoner to go free. The Notos have a couple of small children and there is a pitiable case.

Placed on Probation.

Michael Hardwood, a freemason and sometimes resident of the Stone Row, was arraigned on the charge of having assaulted Mary Provost, another inhabitant of the Row, and also of getting drunk Tuesday. The Provost woman said she did not wish to be hard on Hardwood for the sake of his poor mother, Capt. Richmond testified that when he went to make an investigation that Hardwood had barricaded himself in behind the door and that it was almost necessary to break the door down to effect an entrance, and that he found Hardwood crazy drunk. Hardwood was placed on probation for a period of six months, under penalty of 30 days for each count.

Case Continued.

Louis Jackson was charged with assaulting Michael E. Deney with a John Atwood, another resident of the Stone Row, with breach of the peace and also with being drunk Tuesday. He entered a plea of not guilty to the first two counts, but admitted that he was intoxicated. Mrs. Atwood, who was summoned to appear in court, was not present because she had another fainting spell with which she is frequently afflicted. The case was continued until this morning, under penalty of 30 days for each count.

Creditor, Miss Homer L. Simonds.

Homer L. Simonds, who is manager of the Willimantic Clear company and conducted a store near Young's hotel on Main street, has been out of town several weeks. It is reported that he quietly packed his grip a short time after the Fourth and left for parts unknown. It is intimated that he left behind him a grist of small bills and that he owes a number of people in town and outside.

Tuesday Constable William J. Hastings.

Hastings, for Attorney George E. Elman, representing Joseph Whitcomb, company of Springfield, Mass., attached $150, what goods were left in the store, to cover a claim for $100. A hearing on the case will be held before Justice of the Peace P. J. Danahy on August 18. "Has anybody here seen Simonds?" It is not thought that he will present himself at the hearing. It is expected that other attachments are to be placed upon the stock and fixtures of the store to secure claims held by various parties against Mr. Simonds. What is left is barely sufficient to satisfy one-third of the creditors.

Outing to Watch Hill.

Twelve members of Windham Hive, No. 31, O. E. W., headed by J. O. P. Corn, L. Trowbridge, left Wednesday on the 7:25 a. m. trolley for an outing by trolley to Watch Hill, R. I. The group consisted of the following: plans of the members and not as many made the trip as was expected.

VICAR GENERAL DUGGAN

Displaying Marked Fitness for His New Office, Norwich Cathedral, Particularly Interested in His Success.

The affairs—temporal and spiritual—of the Catholic diocese of Hartford are moving on briskly since the recent announcement of clerical changes and appointments by Rt. Rev. Bishop Nolan. One of the most important of these is the appointment of the new vicar general, the Very Rev. Thomas S. Duggan, to the office of vicar general.

Sang at Westchester Church.

Joseph J. Magrath, the Brooklyn tenor, who is staying with a theatrical friend at Mrs. Libby Loomis' Westchester, sang Face to Face, a Dream of Paradise at the Congregational services Sunday morning with great acceptance. He was accompanied by Mrs. Magrath and her daughter, who sang for the congregation a few years ago and promised on his return to Westchester he would again sing for them, which he did.

Field Spiders of Maine.

Walking through the pastures of Dresden, the country found many small, deep holes in the earth which he supposed were those of field mice. He learned, however, that they were not by big spiders with bodies beautifully marked in black and gold and half as large as hens' eggs. A note from one of these field spiders would be a man remember—Kennebec Journal.

Oyster Shell Roman Roads.

Many people have wondered what becomes of pins and needles and oyster shells. The Roman settlers seem to have used them to advantage, for the streets of the ancient Varulanium, by St. Albans, which is to be further excavated, are paved with oyster shells, which seems to indicate good taste and economy on the part of our predecessors.—Westminster Gazette.

Before his appointment to the pastorate of St. Mary's, East Hartford, Father Duggan was an assistant to Father Shanley at the cathedral. He has been editor of the Catholic Transcript since it was first published.

Vicar General Duggan is a native of Deep River. He was graduated from St. Charles' college, Elliptic City, Md., in 1886, and studied theology in St. John's seminary at Brighton, Mass. Shortly before Christmas in 1892 he was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop Williams in the cathedral at Boston.

He is a graceful writer, a forceful and convincing speaker, is gifted with a clear, incisive, excellent judgment and that business ability demanded by the requirements of his important office.
